Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Hunt s Merchants Magazine and Commercial Review, Vol. 52: May 1865 He is a good illustration of what our noble land can do for its humblest children. N O man is so poor, or so ignorant, that a blessing may not rest on his household. The child of the lowly and of the exile, can gain an education free as the air, and good as that which victoria can give her titled children, with the treasury of her kingdom at her command. The sons of coal heavers and porters become millionaires. The store boy of one generation becomes the princely merchant of the next. The glory of a nation is not its palaces, its luxury, its gold and silver and precious stones, its marble halls, its statuary and paintings. It is in intelligent toil, which is the charm of life, in its thousands workshops, in its marts of trade, in the moral rank of mechanical labor. By these, cities rise - schools, those hiding places of a nation s power, abound - colleges grace the land - churches bless the people - enduring prosperity covers all the habitations of those whose walls are salvation and whose gates are praise. N o nation can be tranquil, and no man blest, without employment. The nations who rule the world are marked by intelligent industry. England is called a nation of shopkeepers, but on her domain the sun never sets. When Dr. J ohn son expressed his hate of Scotland, because the men and the horses ate the same food, it was signifibantly asked him Where he could find better men or better horses. Where spicy breezes blow softly over the land, and the fruits...
