Excerpt from Ralph Waldo Emerson: His Life, Genius, and Writings; A Biographical Sketch; To Which Are Added Personal Recollections of His Visits to England, Extracts From Unpublished Letters and Miscellaneous Characteristic Records The reader of the following pages will find in them many illustrative passages in connection with Emerson, without which any account of his life and work, however brief, would be inadequate. Among them may be named - his friendly relations with Margaret Fuller, perhaps the most remarkable woman of culture of her time exercising, during her unfortunately brief life, an acknowledged influence on the best thought of New England, his connection with The Dial, the most remarkable organ of high thought published in our time, - an account of that singular social experiment, The Brook Farm Community, idealized by the weird genius of Hawthorne in that saddest of fictions, The Blithedale Romance, the resignation of his pastoral charge in 1832, and his sermon and farewell letter in connection therewith, - his addresses on Robert Burns and Walter Scott, - and his notable speech in Manchester in 1847, in which he gave utterance to his confidence in, and admiration of, England. Among the Miscellaneous Characteristic Records and Anecdotes will be found some impressions and glimpses that enable us, by a side-light, as it were, to see Emerson almost face to face.
